- Welcome to our 16th Whisky Fringe -

In the past 16 years the whisky industry has undergone monumental change, but we're delighted to be able to say that the ethos on which Whisky Fringe was founded remains very much the same. Over the weekend you'll have the chance to chat and learn from many of our suppliers; some of whom you'll know well from previous years and some of whom are here for the very first time. They will be sampling some of the best whiskies from around the world, and it all takes place under the roof of one of Edinburgh's most stunning venues. As always we'd encourage you to use today to take a chance on something you might not usually try. You might even find a new favourite!

Once again the Mansfield Traquair team will be offering food and refreshments downstairs in the garden. Please feel free to take advantage of this by grabbing a bite, a whiff of fresh air or even just a nice cup of tea to make sure you can make the best of your day.

We're also excited to announce the launch of 'Royal Mile Whisky Auctions' – a new way to buy and sell old and rare bottles of whisky. Chris White, our new auctioneer, will be on hand all weekend at the Drinkmonger stand to answer any enquires you may have about this fantastic new venture.

To ensure maximum enjoyment of your day:

- Make sure you eat before sampling. You can also enjoy some food at the venue.
- Pace your sampling and know the strength of what you're trying.
- Drink plenty of water (refresh your palate, stay hydrated).
- Use the spittoons provided. You don't have to finish every dram.
- If you are in a group please look after each other.
- Please don't be rude. The exhibitors have the right not to serve you.
- Remember to use your £10 off voucher at the RMW event shop.
- Don't forget to vote for your favourite dram to enter the prize draw.

- The Half Time Orange/Whistle -

At 4pm today make sure to listen out for the half time whistle. It is the signal to 'commence pouring' on some very exciting drams.

A number of our exhibitors have kindly agreed to bring along one single bottle of something extra special for you to try, at no extra charge. Stocks are limited and may run out depending on demand. A list of the Half Time whiskies can be found at the RMW Shop (Stand 29). The exhibitors will only be offering these drams from 4.00 pm for a short period of time (approximately 15 minutes) or, simply, as long as the bottle lasts!

You may select only ONE of these special whiskies to sample which can be exchanged for your halftime orange token which you receive on arrival.

- A Short Guide to Appreciating Whisky -

It is recommended that you should aim to sample no more than 6 drams (be aware that some drams may be cask strength and above the standard 40% ABV). Always remember to keep yourself well hydrated in between drams. There are lots of water stations placed around the hall to help you with this.

For those still discovering whisky, we have put a few pointers in the program. A 'Staff Favourite' is a whisky that continually rates highly across our employees, and is a great place to start if you want to set a benchmark for a particular distillery. You'll also find a few lines introducing each company and what sort of whisky they make, so it's worth having an overall read of the programme before sampling. We'd recommend coming with a plan ready to help you navigate your route around the room!

- Nosing and tasting -

Appreciating a whisky involves nosing it just as much as actually tasting it; the Snifter glass provided is the best glass for this purpose. First gently nose the dram. What aromas can you distinguish? There may be any number of the following and more; Phenols (peat and smoke) Esters (fruit or solvent) Floral (grass and flowers) Cereal (malty, yeasty) Wine (sherry and nutty) Woody (vanilla and toast) Sulphur (gas and rubber) Feints (tobacco and leather).

Take a little sip into your mouth, swirl it around and concentrate on the sensations. There are three elements to look out for if you really want to evaluate the whisky. The 'taste' itself is perhaps the most obvious element - does the whisky taste sweet, bitter, salty or sour? The two other elements are the 'mouth feel', which occurs before the whisky is swallowed - is the whisky astringent, drying, fizzy, mouth watering? Finally there is the 'finish' of the whisky - does it leave an aftertaste; how long does the flavour last for?

Next, add a drop of water. The strength of the alcohol might be a bit too powerful – so a little water will stop the strength of the whisky anaesthetising your senses and allow you to perceive more flavours. Add a little water at a time to get the right dilution. Individual tastes will vary and each whisky is different so experiment with what you prefer.

Take a bit of time before moving onto a new whisky, to allow your taste buds to recover. There is water available throughout the hall, as well as oatcakes on all stands to help you cleanse your palate.

The Tastival edition of Jura is fast becoming a must-try release (this one is finished in port casks). Dalmore is a weighty beast best left until later in the afternoon, but before you get there the skilfully blended new Shackleton tastes more expensive than it is.

Both of these distilleries are, in our opinion, benchmarks. Glenmorangie is light, fruity and elegant, but Ardbeg is persistently smoky whilst complex. There are plans for an occasional cocktail this year.

The first whisky distillery to open in Sweden, their malt is now ageing with a distinctive style that is proudly not trying to be Scottish (we like that). We find their small batch 'Moment' series fascinating.
